The Highlanders defeated St. Louis in a heavy hitting game at American League Park yesterday by a score of 7 to 6. Home runs by Dougherty and Onroy in the eighth inning gave the home team the lead and the game. Powell pitched for the first five innings, and was retired when it came the Highlanders' turn to bat in this inning on account of Orth being sent in to bat for him. The isitors had a lead of one run at the time and Orth, who took his place, was in rare form and kept the St. Louis players from further scoring, and allowed them only one hit.

and allowed them only one hit.

It was not all Powell's fault, however, that the visitors had the lead when he was taken out of the box; it was due principally to the bad work of Dougherty. In the fifth inning Dougherty misjudged Koehler's liner, with the result that Stone and Van Sant crossed the plate. The ball should have Van Sant crossed the plate. The ball should have been easily caught. A few minutes later the specbeen easily caught. A few minutes later the spectators had reason to groun again when Dougherty made another blunder in depending on Elberfeld to get Jones's high fly, with the result that the ball fell safe and Koehler scored.

Powell fielded his position cleverly, with the exception of an error that he made in the opening inning when, after falling when making a catch of Van Sant's liner, he threw the hall wild while sitting ing when, after falling when making a catch of Van Sant's liner, he threw the ball wild while sitting on the ground, with the result that the batter got to second base. A three base hit by Koehler got Van Sant across the plate. Powell, a few minutes later, was cheered for making a difficult catch of Jones's liner and getting it to Chase in time to Jones's liner and getting it to Chase in time to retire the side, and again in the second finning, when he caught Sugden's hot drive with one hand and with lightning speed shot it to Williams in time to score a fast double play.

In this inning the Highlanders made three runs on Williams's single, followed by doubles by Chase and Elberfeld and Kleinow's three bagger. Williams's three base hit and Conroy's single in the sixth inning tied the score. The score follows:

McGinnity pitched a good game with the exception of the seventh inning. The Chicago players made their winning run in this inning, when Chance got a base on balls, went to second on Evers's sacrifice and came home on Casey's three bagger. Wicker, who pitched for Chicago, was invincible, and only three scattered hits were made from his delivery. Al-though two errors were made by the home play-ers these happened when they counted for noth-

Not a player on either side made more than a single hit. A double play in which Donlin and Devlin took part called applause from the 19,000 spectators who saw the game. O'Neill, who was coaching for the home team, knocked the ball out of Devlin's hand in the seventh inning and the Giants protested to the umpire, who ordered O'Neill from the game. The score follows:
